

6-9 p.m. | April 11, 2026
121 N. Pershing Ave., York

When York Continental Congress delegate—and future signer of the Declaration of Independence—James Smith gave York’s first public reading of the Declaration, he realized that many people didn’t yet understand why it mattered, or what independence would truly mean for them. So, he did something remarkable—he explained it, connecting bold ideals to real lives and real communities.

Today, that spirit continues.

We invite you to sponsor “Independence: More Than A Moment” and celebrate 250 years of promise, progress, and possibility at a special evening that brings American independence to life through many voices and perspectives. Your sponsorship helps illuminate the past, spark meaningful conversation, and ensure York’s stories continue to inspire generations to come. Be part of the legacy. Sponsor this unforgettable celebration of independence and York’s revolutionary history.
